This course is for anyone interested in becoming a tribal monitor or needing to update your tribal monitor certification.

This 36-hour course is both classroom-based (32-hours) and field-based (4-hours), with instruction covering important topics to prepare tribal members with the information they will need to represent your tribe as a cultural monitor.

Instruction topics are separated into eight sections spread over 5 days. Over the five days, participants are introduced to important topics that provide the basic knowledge and understanding of tribal cultural monitoring and how to accomplish tribal goals related to monitoring.

Main section topics include:

1. Training Introduction and Expectations (2 hrs.)
2. Communication and Documentation (2 hrs.)
3. Introduction to Cultural Resource Management, Regulations, and Laws (8 hrs.)
4. Archaeological Principles and Resources (8 hrs.)
5. Safety (8 hrs.)
6. General Field Mapping Exercises (4 hrs.)
7. Traditional Cultural Knowledge and Intangible Resources (3 hrs.)
8. Training Review and Completion (1 hr.)

WHAT PARTICIPANTS WILL RECEIVE

- Each participant will receive a training manual and monitoring handbook that contains class materials and additional important reference materials.

- Each participant will receive a monitoring starter equipment kit within a daypack that includes a notebook, clipboard, graph paper, pencils, ruler, tape measure, compass, and first aid kit.

- Each participant will receive a signed Certificate of Training.

(For Kaibab monitors this course provides the training necessary for the Kaibab Paiute Cultural Departments to certify you to participate in the KPT Cultural Resource Monitor Program - Get Paid to Monitor)
