Vision Boards

This month, we want to focus on goals, especially now that school is about to be back in session.

Along these lines, we will be working on vision boards with the youth. Vision boards are good because the youth get a visual representation of their goals, which can make it easier for them to plan out how they can reach their goals.

Also, envisioning a brighter future for themselves can be a form of meditation because they can focus on their own desires rather than things that may drain them. It is good to focus on their hopes because it boosts confidence.
